1. This list is issued in accordance with Article 3, 11 and 34 of the "PRC Law on the Management of the Activities of Overseas NGOs within Mainland China”, for the purpose of guiding overseas’ NGOs to lawfully carry out activities within China.

2. Those overseas NGOs who wish to set up representative offices within China should, based on their scope of operation, geographic areas of activities and the specific needs arising from these activities, confirm a professional supervisory unit in accordance with this List. Upon acquiring consent from the professional supervisory units, they should apply for registration with the public security organs in the provincial level government where the representative offices are to be located.
3. Should the overseas NGO’s activities cover multiple fields, one professional supervisory unit should be determined and selected in accordance with their primary field of activities and chief scope of operations. With respect to the other activities falling outside of the primary field, the primary professional supervisory unit may consult with relevant departments, who in turn should actively cooperate and jointly provide services and supervision (to overseas NGOs).
4. Based on this List and local conditions, the public security organs at the provincial level should coordinate with relevant agencies in researching, issuing and publishing a local version of the “List of Fields of Activity, Categories of Projects and Professional Supervisory Units for Overseas NGOs” to provide guidance for overseas NGOs to lawfully carry out activities within China.
5. This List will be adjusted and modified as needed in response to actual conditions and changes occurring in the course of overseas NGOs carrying out activities within China.
